If you are thinking about travel you will be pleased to know that all possible situations have been thought of and provided for by your experienced travel agent... We are a small agency - only two people in it - and since we check everything carefully ourselves there are no loose details to annoy you and foul up your trip.

THERE IS NO EXPENSE TO YOU, because travel agents' commissions are included in any ticket you buy, whether or not you avail yourself of an agent's services... Unless you actually enjoy wrestling with timetables, writing letters or telephoning, WHY LO IT when we get paid for it anyway? We stress... tickets are exactly the same price at Morse-Gleason as at the railroad, bus, plane or steamship companies.

This new 24-unit apartment-hotel building now being constructed on Junipero between Seventh and Eighth, Carmel, is expected to be completed by the end of May. Owners, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Chevrier, who report that the building will be known as "Hide-Away Inn," plan to reside on the premises. They are owners of the Wilshire Motel in Monterey. Designed by Architect Thomas Elston, the building will be shaped in the form of a U in which a garden type patio will be planted. General contractor is Harold C. Geyer, while plumbing contractor is Wilder & Jones. Polaroid one-minute Photo.

Carmel, Big Sur, Carmel Valley and Carmel Highlands this week reached 90 percent of their combined goal of $14,582 for this year's American Red Cross drive, which ends March 31. The Monterey-Pacific Grove chapter, reporting for the remainder of Monterey Peninsula, including the armed forces installations, had reached 73 percent of a goal amounting to $23,000.

The SPECTRE

By CERF AND SAND

Since the Village Corner did its Spring housecleaning, an awning has been stretched over a section of the patio along Sixth Street. Along about the end of this week, you will see three shadow boxes hanging on the walls beneath the awning: They were donated by Carmel Builder Hugh Comstock, who will not only use them to display paintings of his new building projects but intends them for exhibits of the work of local artists and craftsmen. Nothing like culture with your coffee...

The first day of Spring was one of the nicest we have had this year. So conditioned are we to taciturn weather that we always expect rain on March 21, with a warm sunny day opening the Winter season. All in all, it was a pleasant switch...

The American Press Magazine featured an article on The SPECTATOR in this month's issue. The editor received two requests from eastern newspapers for copies of our paper before we had even seen the mag article.

Haven't seen it myself, but understand that a recent work by Artist Phil Nesbitt was featured in a March issue of the Christian Science Monitor...

A loud crashing of fenders the other night at the corner of Eighth and Carmelo in the village reminded us that six months ago we said someone might get hurt along Eighth, if stop signs were not installed soon. It's comforting to know that Carmel has undertaken a traffic study, but things are getting pretty tough when our neighbors near the aforementioned intersection don't even bother to run to see what all the noise is about. You can ignore anything to which you become accustomed, it seems...

RESERVE OFFICERS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association will hold its annual Stag Buffet Dinner Meeting at the Navy Club, Monterey, on March 31, at 7 p.m., preceded by a social gathering at 6:30.

The guest speaker for the occasion will be Colonel Augustus Dunaway, the department executive secretary of the Reserve Officers who has been an Army Officer for 40 years.

Colonel Dunaway served on the Mexican border in the Infantry from 1913-17; served overseas in France in World War I as Assistant Chief of Staff of the 13th Division and was wounded in combat. He has been department judge advocate; vice president and president; and he served for four years as the national councilman from California. He is a graduate lawyer and an acknowledged authority on legislation affecting Reserve components.

Following Colonel Dunaway's address, the election of chapter officers for the ensuing year and delegates to the Santa Barbara Reserve Officers Convention, will be held.

The chapter secretary, Lt. Col. Charles Richardson, Jr., has stated that all reserve officers are cordially invited to attend this meeting, whether members of the chapter or not. The charge will be $1.75 per person. Reservations and remittances should be mailed promptly to Lt. Col. Charles Richardson, Jr., secretary, P.O. Box 2052, Carmel.

Household Hint

Waffles sometimes stick on cleaned grids just as they do on a new waffle iron which has not been "seasoned" first. To prevent sticking, grease the grids with unsalted fat or oil, then preheat the iron thoroughly before using. To keep grids in best condition, leave the iron open to cool after it has been used.

AIRPORT DISTRICT ELECTION TO BE HELD ON APRIL 11

On Tuesday, April 11, Monterey Peninsula residents will take part in an election the like of which is probably unknown throughout the State of California, except locally. Electors will cast their votes for two men to fill vacant seats on the five-man Board of Directors of the Monterey Peninsula Airport District.

Candidates are Dr. James Finley, incumbent, Alton Walker, Dan Searles, George L. Thomlinson and Jack M. Sloan. Incumbent Charles Frost has decided not to run again.

The Airport District is a tax area established for maintenance of the local airport, perhaps the only of its kind on the West Coast, and the Board of Directors functions in the same manner as a city council for a sixth class city.

SUPERVISORS PROCLAIM REGISTRATION WEEK MARCH 27 - April 1

At the suggestion of the Salinas and Monterey Peninsula chapters of the League of Women Voters, the County Board of Supervisors has proclaimed the week of March 27 through April 1 as "Registration Week."

"This is a splendid idea," said Andy Jacobsen, chairman of the board. "Every good American is duty-bound to register and to exercise his power to vote."

Carmel Mayor Fred Godwin, endorsing the idea, added "If people expect any kind of good government, it is imperative that they get out and vote."

The League of Women Voters will have its booth in front of the Post Office on Wednesday and Thursday, March 29 and 30, and also in the Carmel Theater on the night of Saturday, April 1.

Other registrars in this area include Sam Colburn, Pescadero Road, Carmel Woods; Gledhill Radio and Appliance Store; Robert G. Leidig, E. side of Dolores near Ocean; Mrs. Constance P. Low, Ridgewood Road near Santa Lucia; Stalling's Stamp Shop, Dolores near Ocean, and Staniford's Drug Store.

WOMEN REPUBLICANS TO HOST NOTED WOMAN ATTORNEY

Featured speaker at the next monthly meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Republican Women's Club, is Mrs. Eugene Prince, San Francisco attorney and member of the Republican State Central Committee. The meeting will be held at the Carmel Woman's Club, Wednesday, March 29, at 2:30 p.m., and will be open to the public.

Mrs. Prince, who is well known on the Monterey Peninsula because of former speaking engagements here, will discuss "Campaign Issues."

Although she considers herself an amateur in politics, Mrs. Prince has had much experience and a long record of service in political fields. She has served as president of Pro-America and is now legislative chairman of that organization. She is a member of the San Francisco County Central Committee.

Her interest in good government has induced her to serve on the City Planning Commission of San Francisco, and she has also been a member of the Public Welfare Commission. She is a director of the California Taxpayers Council and she is serving on the San Francisco Juvenile Court Committee.

While on the peninsula as guest of the Monterey Peninsula Republican Women's Club, Mrs. Prince has agreed to address the Carmel Rotary Club Wednesday noon at La Ribera Hotel, also on the topic of "Campaign Issues." Mrs. Frances Ballard, president of the Republican Women's organization, and Mrs. Milton Marquard, member of the Executive Committee of the Northern Division of the California Council of Republican Women, will also be guests of the Carmel Rotary Club.

Carmel High School's annual senior play, under the supervision of Mrs. M. D. Brey, dramatics teacher, opens tomorrow night. Yes, March 24, at 8 p.m., will mark the end of long weeks of rehearsal.

"Little Women," this year's senior play, is to be given at Sunset School auditorium, and we of the high school hope a large number of Carmelites will attend.

This adaptation from the novel Louisa May Alcott was written by Marian de Forest and is to be produced by special arrangement with Samuel French, of New York. The main roles in this four-act play will be played by Joan Daniels as Jo, Nancy Brown as Meg, Dolores Sharp as Beth, Connie Campbell as Amy, and Ann Thoeni as the mother. Others in the cast are Edith Stebbins, Bill Albee, Ronnie Peterson, Mary Eleanor Horne, Jim Hare, Keith McKenzie and Peter Lyon.

Lots of luck to them all!

POLITICAL CANDIDATES ARE PUBLIC PROPERTY

When the March 31 Town Meeting program was announced last week, committee members said they would "ask" the five Carmel City Council candidates to be the speakers of the evening, although they would not guarantee that all of them would agree to appear.

Of course, the program committee was perfectly correct in stating its announcement thusly: No one has to do anything of that nature. However, when a person decides to run for public office - or when he attains public office - he becomes, in a sense, "public property."

We hope none of the candidates will refuse the Town Meeting invitation. The public has a right to hear what each has to say.

We will be particularly interested to hear how the candidates stand on the zoning advisory question, which is also to be on the April 11 ballot.

The SPECTATOR is currently running a series of brief biographical sketches on each candidate, with a statement of their civic views, but we realize that these cannot possibly supply the full information nor the type of information that residents can expect from a well-conceived Town Meeting, in which the candidates participate.

If the candidates feel that they are being put on the spot by the Town Meeting program committee, let them understand they are absolutely right.

Better that they be put on the spot than the Carmel voters.

MARCH OF EVENTS

Air Force Considering
Faster, Stronger B-36

Truman-Stalin Meeting
Out During HST's Term

SPECIAL TO THE SPECTATOR

WASHINGTON—It is true, as recently reported, that the Air Force is considering the use of funds originally slated for other work to modify the B-36 bomber and give it more speed and load-lifting ability.

It probably also is true that the money to be used was first earmarked for completion of the Boeing six-jet B-52 heavy bomber scheduled to succeed the B-36 as the prime United States atomic bomb carrier.

However, if Russia believes for a minute that the B-52 project is being abandoned or even slowed down, the USSR is foolish. The B-52 project will go ahead full steam.

Long-range plans for volume production may be postponed for a while until more money is available but the first airplane is expected to be flying on the originally-announced date - some time in 1952.

● NO TRUMAN-STALIN MEETING—It is considered certain in Washington that President Truman will not meet with Generalissimo Stalin during the chief executive's term in the White House, regardless of numerous suggestions and rumors.

Despite the president's news conference assertion that he would not go to Moscow while head of the United States government, but hoped to go later as a private citizen, reports of an impending meeting have persisted.

They have continued even in the face of Secretary of State Dean Acheson's recent blunt statement that the administration feels that any United States-initiated Truman-Stalin conference could only benefit Russia.

Thus, in fact, the only alternative to the American position is for the Russians themselves to call for such a meeting, in which case a Truman-Stalin conference possibly could be arranged. Diplomatic officials in Washington say that there is virtually no chance for this happening.

The Russians are said to feel that such a move on their part would cause the Kremlin "to lose face" among the Soviet satellites. The United States has similar feelings. Acheson said that a top level conference called by this country would only "raise false hopes among some people and fears among others."

So, barring a sensational upset, the "cold war" stalemate will continue, probably for many years.

● LOOSE ENDS—Reporters who had been covering the coal story since negotiations began in Bluefield, W. Va., last spring wrote the final chapter on the hard coal contract with mingled feelings.

As one of them put it aptly during recent weeks: "This thing has ceased to be a story and has become a career."

However, now that peace appears to be assured on the coal front at least for several months, many a reporter is wondering where his next situation story will originate.

Gathered around the luncheon table on the final day, someone suggested that a toast be offered to mark the end of the ink-stained marathon. The toast: "Thank God."

● STATEHOOD AND THE SENATE—Proponents of the Alaska and Hawaii statehood bills, which passed the House, now are turning the heat on senators to get them to pass the measures at this session. The outcome is highly uncertain, with the odds against statehood for either territory.

Both bills faced little trouble in the House. But a different situation confronts the bills in the Senate. Strong cross-currents are in motion which may kill both measures with the expiration of the 81st Congress.

The Alaska bill would probably get through the Senate were it not for the Hawaiian bill.

Strong sentiment exists in the Senate against admitting Hawaii as a state because of Communist activities in the islands. In addition, southern senators, highly sensitive to the race issue, are afraid of the precedent which would be set by Hawaii's admission. They consider that the next step would be the admission of Puerto Rico.

AUTHORITIES APPROVE NEW CRAFTS BUILDING AT COUNTY FAIRGROUNDS

Plans donated by Carmel Builder Hugh Comstock for a 30 by 50 foot, permanent crafts building at the Monterey County Fairgrounds have been approved by state and county authorities, it was announced during a meeting Thursday night of the Carmel Crafts Guild.

Thirty members of the guild attended the meeting at Ermelen Studios, Carmel, to inspect the Folly Cove block printing exhibit, and for a short business session.

Those who wish to donate their handwork for a proposed sale in connection with the drive must bring it in by April 5 to the Ermelen Studios or the Carmel Art Shop, he said.

The Crafts Guild will have an exhibit at the King City Fair, April 29-30, under the supervision of Mrs. Marian Brueck. Among those who will participate are Jack Smith, Francis Whitaker, Glenn Minshall, Joe Frame and Howell Armor.

CARMEL CITY COUNCIL CANDIDATE

Commander John S. Chitwood

(This is the third of five articles on the background, aims and personalities of candidates for election to the Carmel City Council on the April 11 ballot. Watch for them each week. -- Editor.)

By Bill Martin

Born a middlewesterner, Commander John S. Chitwood, candidate for the Carmel City Council, became acquainted with Monterey Peninsula as early as 1925, the year he graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland. While he cannot match Carmel history with his wife, who has lived here since 1914, he has a strong feeling for the traditions of the village, and it is village tradition that he feels must be kept in mind when legislating for the people of Carmel.

"The town is growing and is under increased pressure," he said, "but we must strive to preserve the beauty and quiet of the residential area."

He thinks the present administration is on the right track in its attempt to solve the critical parking problems in the business section, but he also hopes for a solution to the need for better drainage in Carmel.

Commander Chitwood was born on April 2, 1904, in Carthage, Missouri, where he received his education, obtaining good enough high school marks not to have to take the entrance examinations for the Naval Academy.

He confesses with reticence that he had always wanted to attend West Point, but was informed that there weren't any openings at the time he wished to enter. Undaunted, he accepted a congressional appointment to the Naval Academy.

His first tour of duty was as a junior officer aboard the battleship Mississippi, on which he cruised to Australia before paying his first call to Monterey in July of 1925. Mayor Pryor, of Pacific Grove, held an "at home" for the ship's officers, at which young Ensign Chitwood met his wife-to-be, the former Jean Taylor, of Carmel, whose father, Peter Taylor, was one of the first members of the Carmel Board of Trustees, the 1916 counterpart of the present City Council. Married in 1927, Commander and Mrs. Chitwood have one son, John Jr., 20, a student at California Polytechnic Institute. Young John is a Carmel High School graduate who has handled the lighting for many local theater productions. He is a member of the Forest Theater Guild.

Although he did one tour of China, Commander Chitwood was fortunate enough to be stationed much of his Naval career along the West Coast. "I kept returning to Carmel whenever possible," he said.

A former executive officer of the destroyer, USS Bore, the commander acquired most of his experience in engineering divisions, although he was in the gunnery department on the Mississippi. It was while he was in China that he became ill and decided to retire from the Navy, but one month later - during 1940 - he was recalled to active service. During World War II he was stationed in the Central Division of the Chief of Naval Operations in Washington, D.C., and he returned to Carmel in 1946.

An occasional golfer, the commander gives much of his time to Carmel American Legion Post 512, of which he is currently vice-commander. He also heads the Legion committee that sponsors the Carmel Sea Scouts.

His wife is corresponding secretary of the Legion Auxiliary and treasurer of the Carmel Women's Republican Club. Mrs. Chitwood attended Sunset School and Monterey Union High School with such long-time Carmelites as Dave Prince, Bettie Greene, Peter Ferrante and Waldo and Helen Hicks; she recalls the "old days" with the amused nostalgia that seems to be the trademark of Carmelites who grew up in the village.

Commander Chitwood is aware of the inevitability of progress, but thinks that progress must be controlled for the good of the majority.

As for his candidacy to the Carmel City Council, he states that retirement allows him free time to give to the city, and that he is more than willing to give it.

Sugar Top Cause of Bad Teeth

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

TWENTY years ago or less we parents were told not to bother with a toothbrush for ourselves or our children except for aesthetic purposes. All we needed to do was to eat proper foods being sure we got the necessary vitamins.

Whereas some of us grandparents tried to keep candy from our children especially between meals, there has not been in recent years much warning against sweets, and there have been growing allurements among sweets for children. In educational propaganda at home or school there's not much propaganda against sugar in relation to dental preservation.

Yet some rather recent studies of tooth decay indicate that while proper foods create in teeth considerable resistance to decay, the leading other cause of tooth decay is sugar in the mouth.

Summarized Studies

In Science News Letter of Dec. 10, 1949 are summarized studies by Drs. H. W. Haggard and Leon A. Greenberg of Yale University. These scientists are not dentists, they are physiologists. They assume that if sugar is a cause of tooth decay, the damage it will do the teeth will be related to how much sugar is in the mouth, especially to how long it stays there.

They found that a caramel and orange juice brought to the saliva almost the same high content of sugar. But there was almost no sugar left in the saliva from orange juice after 20 minutes, while there was considerable still in the saliva from the caramel after 45 minutes. When, however, the teeth and mouth were thoroughly brushed and washed after eating the caramel, the sugar concentration in the saliva dropped to zero.

These scientists point out that trying to avoid tooth decay by avoiding sugars is impractical, since almost all starch foods produce sugar in the mouth. After a mixed meal, for example, it took 45 minutes before the sugar in the saliva practically disappeared.

Sweet Teeth

They conclude that if you have a sweet tooth and want to satisfy it you should use a toothbrush and mouth rinse immediately afterwards if you wish to avoid tooth decay.

But with so many ways by which children get sweets anytime in the day, it is not very practical to hope that they will always brush their teeth right away after taking a soft drink, ice-cream cone, chewing gum, cookie or piece of candy. Of course, if we can limit their consumption of sweets and most other foods to mealtime it would be easier to train them to brush their teeth at proper times.

It is obvious that the traditional ritual of brushing the teeth the first thing on rising in the morning and no more till the next morning, perhaps, has little sense to it. It were better for us and our children to brush the teeth after each meal and at bedtime.

Tots from one to five or six often have some sweets or a sandwich at bedtime—a bad practice for the teeth though a good one for making bedtime pleasant. It's not very practical to get the little tyke up to brush his teeth just when he is wooing the sandman.

Anyway, we had better not give up the toothbrush ourselves or have our children do so. Instead, we ought to cultivate in our children from early years good toothbrush habits after eating anything. Of course, some dental surgeons will say that too much brushing of the teeth can wear off the enamel. This objection can be met by choosing a soft brush. We should also go on getting our children to eat proper foods.

LOTS OF HOT WATER WHEN YOU HAVE
"extra gallons"
ON HAND...

Can you do "a whopping big washing" in your home without running out of hot water? Or do you have to limit the size of the washing to the size of your water heater?

Those are two good questions to ask yourself when planning a new house or when you are replacing the present, old water heater in your home. Too often, a 20-gallon water heater is put into a home where the hot water needs require a 30- or 40-gallon heater.

Did you know that it takes 20 to 30 gallons for washing clothes and an average of 15 to 20 gallons for a shower? So if you are buying a new water heater make sure you select one that is "sized up" to your family's needs.

Fort Ord's Peacetime Role

By CLEO CHASE

Fort Ord's peacetime advantages to the surrounding communities is becoming better recognized and understood with each passing month. Although Fort Ord, within the confines of its boundaries, is comparable to a city in itself, the Fort, and its personnel, have expanded the economic and social boundaries to reach nearly every citizen of the Monterey Peninsula communities.

Each month, over 600 civilians living in the surrounding communities take home a paycheck for services at Fort Ord. These paychecks amount to an average of $120,000 a month. With few exceptions, the greatest part of this money is spent in the surrounding communities.

The monthly payrolls for enlisted men at Fort Ord average $900,000, while the monthly payroll for officers is $325,000. The sum of these two figures, added to the civilian Fort Ord payroll totals $1,345,000.

A recent survey of the housing facilities utilized showed that 407 persons, either stationed, or employed at Fort Ord, owned, or were buying, their own homes in one of the surrounding communities. These personnel who are buying their homes are assisting the community in the way of land taxes and county welfare, in addition to their more personal community assistance.

The survey also showed 1,096 of the families of Fort Ord personnel or civilian employees were renting housing accommodations in these communities. The average rental was: Monterey, $63.13; Seaside, $69.50; Pacific Grove, $59.95; Carmel, $94.50; and Salinas, $55.77. This average rental alone pours more than 75 thousand dollars into the communities each month.

According to the estimate of the Monterey Chamber of Commerce, 12 million dollars worth of business each year is created by the personal purchases of the men and civilian personnel of the military establishments. Without this help, the economy of this area would be seriously hampered.

The majority of Fort Ord personnel, both military and civilian, give local business the larger part of their patronage. Service stations, restaurants, department stores and groceries, as well as amusement spots and dry goods stores all have the opportunity to cater to the Fort Ord trade.

The retail financial budget is not the only factor aided by the Fort Ord payroll. This year, Fort Ord amassed the total of $6,767.26 for the March of Dimes campaign. This sum was sent to Sixth Army Headquarters for remittance to the National March of Dimes Foundation. There, like all funds collected in this area, half of the total sum will be returned to Monterey County and half utilized for national campaigns and research.

This 1950 March of Dimes figure is particularly impressive in view of the fact that the majority of Fort Ord personnel are trainees who are young and have no families of young children. Also worthy of note is the fact that there was not one case of infantile paralysis at Fort Ord during the past year.

In the 1950 Red Cross Drive now going on at Fort Ord, as it is all over the nation, nearly 90 percent of the goal has been reached, with a sum of over $4,000 already collected.

The American Cancer Society is also aided by Fort Ord contributions, as well as the Tuberculosis Foundation and the American Heart Association.

In addition to this, the Community Chest is greatly benefitted by Fort Ord donations. Last year, the personnel of the post gave $4,374 to this cause.

In order to better care for the emergencies among their own men, the Fort Ord soldiers gave $5,987.79 to their own assisting organization, the Army Emergency Relief during its late summer campaign.

The more altruistic assistance given by Fort Ord personnel is also of great advantage to the communities. Many Fort Ord personnel belong to local churches, civic organizations and parent-teacher groups. Many others have become leaders in young people's organizations, such as Boy Scouts and church groups.

Nearly every phase of civic activity calls for and will find ready assistance at Fort Ord. The Fort Ord Station Hospital has given great assistance to this community, and will continue to do so in any emergency. Last year alone, the hospital spearheaded the anti-rabies drive on this peninsula. When the hospital received a call for medical equipment and aid for victims of a truck crash in Hollister, Fort Ord rushed physicians and supplies to the accident.

Local law enforcement agencies would be severely hampered were it not for the fine cooperation given them by the military agencies. Not only has crime detection been assisted, but methods of crime prevention, primarily among juveniles have been studied with military law enforcement officials working with the local agencies. During parades or civic functions the Fort Ord Military Police force also offers assistance in traffic control.

According to Robert Johnson, secretary-manager of the Monterey Chamber of Commerce, "Every merchant on the Monterey Peninsula knows the value of Fort Ord trade. Every one of us should know the Fort Ord personnel, not only as soldiers, but also as citizens, home owners, taxpayers, and above all, as conscientious members of our community."

NOTED CUBAN PIANIST IN CARMEL SATURDAY

The Musical Art Club of Monterey Peninsula opens its Spring season in what promises to be another "high" in experiences of keyboard playing with its presentation of Raimundo Llada, outstanding pianist recently moved to California from Havana, Cuba. Mr. Llada's background is concrete and varied: He was a pupil of Edwin Hughes and Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler; held several periods of study in Europe; was head of the Music Department at Grafton Hall, Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, and has given innumerable outstanding concerts throughout the Middle West and in Havana. Mr. Llada's concert is scheduled for Saturday, March 25, at 8:15 p.m., in the Carmel Woman's Club.

WATER PRESSURE

AND WATER VOLUME DEPEND UPON PIPE DIAMETERS

A water distribution system is engineered to regulate flow for full volume and satisfactory pressure, and pipe sizes are determined accordingly.

Builders of new homes should also "engineer" their piping systems in order to enjoy a plentiful supply of water with adequate pressure for both household and garden use.

Frequently the pipe installed between the meter and the house is too small, and unsatisfactory water flow results. Before it is too late consult your architect or builder about the pipe sizes required to fulfill the water needs of your new home.

One of the basic cravings of human nature is the desire to be different.

We want our homes to look different from our neighbors'. We want to dress differently, and to express our individuality in the hundred and one details of our lives.

Perhaps you never thought of this before, but one of the principal reasons you are able to gratify this desire is the wide freedom of choice provided by America's system of brand names and advertising.

Under this system, which encourages keen competition, American brand manufacturers carefully study your needs, and then cater to your individual tastes and requirements.

In no other country of the world are consumers offered the variety of brands that are available in America. If you visit a store and fail to find exactly what you are looking for, you can be sure that some other store has the brand you want.

And just as no one brand can be all things to all people, neither can one store be all things to all people. Since some of your needs are highly specialized, Monterey Peninsula towns and shopping areas have many stores which specialize in certain types of goods to make YOUR SHOPPING QUICKER AND MORE CONVENIENT, and at standard prices.

But no matter what brand you buy, or where you buy it, always remember to look carefully for the name or trademark of the maker. A maker's name that has won public confidence by consistently standing for good quality, style and value is a quick and sure guide to reaching a sound buying decision.

Ladies, to your hems! This time it is settled. No more longish skirts or coats. The leg and calf show themselves again, since the new length is about 16 inches, shorter or longer depending on your legs. I am delighted for, at one time, I was hoping - I was not the only one - to see nice legs again (the nice legs were there but could you see them?).

Did you know that the American woman is said (general European opinion) to have the most beautiful legs in the world? How do you expect to live up to your reputation when you wear skirts hiding even the start of the calf? During the last months of our stay in Paris, we very often had to go from the Embassy to the American Express. What a disappointment to see so many pretty American girls make themselves almost ungraceful and shapeless by wearing those horrible "new-look" skirts, and the equally horrible ballerina shoes. It was a relief, I assure you, to see that the peninsula women were smart enough to refuse to wear awkward looking clothes.

Actually, two tendencies are competing for leadership. On one side Dior, Balenciaga - Desses seem to favor the straight line, slim hips and small bust. On the other hand, other dressmakers, less well known by Americans, but more appreciated in Europe: Marcel Rochas, Carven, Robert Piguet, Jacques Griffe prefer soft curves and feminine lines. Jacques Fath is the leader of this group. Which to choose? The decision is yours, for it is you who set the style. It is yours to refuse what is extreme or unflattering. The couturiers propose and YOU decide.

You won't have any trouble finding what is becoming to you - straight or full skirts always being pretty when well chosen. Sure bet, wrap-around and accordion-pleated skirts. Unusual skirt: two straight panels, seams in front and back instead of on sides, and darts on the hips to give a good fit.

A good selection of materials is available on the peninsula. A few days ago in a tailor shop I admired a variety of beautiful, big samples of English - Scotch materials, and, to my surprise, a good number of original fabrics made in Roubaix, France, and London shrunk. How often, in Paris, people would "brag" about their suits as "English made" - which had come from Roubaix, France.

A few novelties from Paris: Black patent leather belts are again stylish. . . Last-born Dior's perfume: "Mademoiselle Dior." I looked everywhere for the "Marcel Rochas" perfumes, and did not find them. They are big favorites in Paris now. . . "Femme" and "Mousseline" are certainly of the same class as "Christmas Night" and "Chanel No. 5."

Just to reassure people who called about the garlic soup recipe: It is really two WHOLE "heads" of garlic (each might have 12 to 24 cloves). And it is not too garlicky, having a very smooth flavor. This garlic soup has the same relation to raw garlic that onion soup has to raw onion.

Letter:

San Francisco
March 20, 1950

The Editor,
Dear Sir:

California wild flowers are world famous. They are being destroyed and some face extinction because of vandalism.

In view of the many new residents of the State of California, this is an appeal to you for help in informing the people of your community of the importance of observing the law of the State of California regarding the preservation of our native plants, shrubs and trees.

Section 384-A of the Penal Code states that it is unlawful to cut, mutilate, remove or destroy native plants, shrubs or trees, etc., growing along public highways or on privately owned land without written permit from the owner.

This law is enforceable by any peace officer and violation of it is punishable by a fine not to exceed $200 or imprisonment for six months, or both.

We ask your help in bringing the substance of this law and the penalty for its violation before the public with an appeal for its strict observance.

We need your help to keep the highways and by-ways of the State as beautiful as Nature made them by preventing the unlawful destruction or removal of our wild flowers.

Yours very truly,

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

Major General Robert T. Frederick, commanding officer of the Fourth Infantry Division at Fort Ord, is featured in this week's "Who Is It?". General Frederick, a native of San Francisco, started his military career in the National Guard, received an appointment to West Point and was graduated in 1928. When he was promoted to major general on Aug. 1, 1944, he became one of the youngest major generals in the nation's history. The general was assigned in June, 1942, to organize, train and command the First Special Service Force, a combat group composed of United States and Canadian personnel. This unit, which was organized at the suggestion of Winston Churchill, received training as paratroopers, mountain fighters and all types of combat, and was perhaps the most highly trained group in the American Army. The force occupied Kiska in the Aleutians in July 1943. Five months later the SSF distinguished themselves at Mt. La Defensa in the Cassine area and at Anzio beach. In addition to seven foreign decorations, General Frederick also holds the Distinguished Service Cross for heroism in Italy and the Distinguished Service Medal for his organization and command in the Aleutians. For each of these he has been awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster. His other decorations are the Silver Star, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star, Air Medal, and the Purple Heart, with seven Oak Leaf Clusters. General and Mrs. Frederick live at the Presidio of Monterey with their youngest daughter, Ann. Another daughter, Jane, is at present attending Mills College.

since he joined the group.

Ironically enough, Fred Workman, chairman of the committee on signs for the resort owners, opposed Chapman in the mayoralty race last year.

TAKE WHEELER RESIDENCE AT PEBBLE BEACH

Captain and Mrs. John Francis O'Shaughnessy are recent arrivals on the peninsula. The captain has been assigned to Fort Ord.

Mrs. O'Shaughnessy, the former Princess Isobel Pignatelli d' Aragon, of Spain, and her husband were in Europe for the past four years. They have taken the Willard W. Wheeler residence in Pebble Beach and are planning to live on the peninsula for some time.

While in Europe, Mrs. O'Shaughnessy spent much time on the Riviera, where she visited her mother, the Princess Pignatelli d' Aragon, and her aunt, the Marquise de St. Mare. Mrs. O'Shaughnessy was frequently entertained by Lord Louis Mountbatten and the Emperor Bad Dai.

COCHRANES LEAVING FOR ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Cochrane will leave Carmel March 28 for New York, where they will sail April 28 on the Queen Elizabeth for England. They will be gone five months, spending more than two months in the British Isles and two months in Norway, Sweden, Finland and Denmark. While they are away their home on Hatton Fields Mesa will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Young, of Kansas City, Mo., who have been close friends of the Cochranes for many years.

While abroad Mr. Cochrane will write a series of articles for a New York syndicate on social and economic conditions in the countries they will visit.

VALLEY PROPERTY OWNERS ASSOCIATION MEETING TONIGHT

The Carmel Valley Property Owners' Association will hold a general meeting tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel, according to an announcement by General E. J. Dawley, president. The public is cordially invited.

Husbands and wives or other co-owners of property in the Carmel Valley are eligible for membership. Dues have been reduced from $2 to $1 for the year 1950, in an effort to enlarge the membership, so that the association will have more power in civic and community affairs. Amounts in excess of $1 will be accepted with appreciation.

The subject of this meeting will be: FACTS ABOUT SCHOOL REDISTRICTING:

Should the Valley School Districts withdraw from the Monterey Union High School District to join the Carmel Unified District?

Should we continue to pay taxes to the King City High School District?

How do Monterey and Carmel High Schools compare?

Might our local schools be closed if we joined a Unified District?

Would we retain any measure of control over our elementary schools if we joined a Unified School District?

How can the transportation problem best be solved?

A panel of experts will be on hand to answer questions. This panel will include Mr. Burr Scott, Monterey County District Attorney; Dr. Jesse Williams, chairman, County School Redistricting Committee; Mr. Calvin Flint, president, Monterey Peninsula College.

Mayock Again Lashes Out At Roosevelt

A two-pronged attack on James Roosevelt's record as a political buckster was launched Monday by Welburn Mayock, Democratic candidate for governor.

Mayock based his offensive to win California's Democratic nomination in June 8 primary on young Jimmy's record of openly peddling the Roosevelt name made famous by two presidents and his method of "high jacking" tribute from both sides in the business world.

Citing documents compiled by such nationally known writers as John T. Flynn, author; Alva Johnson, Saturday Evening Post, Walter Davenport, Colliers, and even his own mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in "Days of Our Years," young Jimmy has an outstanding reputation for selling out to the highest bidder, Mayock charged.

"It is common knowledge," Mayock said, "that at the time our late president, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, was serving as New York's governor, James took a $15,000 a year insurance company job just for the prestige of allowing the company the use of the Roosevelt name."

"This disgusting lack of ethics was even more embarrassing to Democratic leaders after Jimmy's father became president of the United States. Shortly after Franklin Roosevelt took office, young Jimmy unashamedly admitted: 'I wasn't being kidded. I knew perfectly well they were paying me for the name. I needed the money.' Jimmy's insurance duties consisted of sitting behind a desk and drawing his paycheck without even so much as going through the motions of looking busy."

Mayock added that Jimmy received $19,000 in 1932 and $23,000 in 1933 just for the use of his father's name, and, according to Collier's interview, he made $37,215 in 1934; $30,785 in 1935; $25,700 in 1936 and $52,290 in 1937.

"It is natural to assume," Mayock continued, "that such tactics clearly stamp the character of Jimmy Roosevelt, who has the effrontery to seek the highest office the State of California has to offer. It leaves little doubt that Jimmy is a politically unmoral person."

Mayock said corroboration of Jimmy's disgraceful record may be found in John Flynn's book, "The Roosevelt Myth," pages 237 to 241.

"Of special interest to California," Mayock declared, "is Flynn's revelation of Jimmy's insurance business and the California sugar beet and cotton growers'."

We quote: "In 1938, the government forced Southern sugar planters to plow under sugar cane. The American growers fought this. The Cuban planters favored it because they were allowed to plant four times as much as Southern planters. The West Indies Sugar Company was the big beneficiary. Its profits were enormous. This was one company that exported to the United States as much sugar as all growers in Louisiana and Florida produced together. And Jimmy got the West Indies Company insurance. Fifty million dollars worth of cotton was shipped to China through an RFC-government loan and Jimmy got the insurance."

"I do not think that California citizens will allow young Jimmy to put a price tag on its name in the same manner as he has done with the family name," Mayock concluded.

Eye Openers on the Peninsula WITH Betsy Abbott

With spring fever gripping us these days it's good to know the shops up and down the streets of Carmel are bursting with new spring stock. After one trip to town, one feels reassured that the dullness of winter has gone for another year...

Have found another reason why KIP'S FOOD CENTER has a reputation for good service... The can-goods may have the same labels, but you will never find them in neater rows in any other place! No need to crawl to the back of the shelf -- they're filled to the brim -- no vacant gaps where "pop's" favorite food should be either -- finest job of stock-keeping ever. For the benefit of newcomers who might not know about KIP'S FOOD CENTER on Ocean and San Carlos, Carmel, I'll repeat... Besides finding well filled shelves of delectables, freshest of fresh vegetables, a complete meat department - with really tender, mouth-watering meats - the piece de resistance of the menu, wines and liquors... you will also find convenient hours: 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day, Sundays too. Delivery in Carmel and Pebble Beach. Call Carmel 7-3821 or 7-3822.

CANDLES OF CARMEL has a variety of candles that will help you arrange attractive centerpieces. There are beautiful white candles with deep purple iris and green leaves, or white with bright yellow jonquils... some with their own wax holders. Using her own cut flowers around these candles will make any hostess proud of her dinner table this spring. Go to CANDLES OF CARMEL in the Bough Court on Ocean (across from the Pine Inn), Carmel, for candles to fit your every need or decorating motif.

A cottage or apartment, equipped with every convenience for house-keeping... with super comfortable beds... chairs that invite lounging after sightseeing and before evening fun... and, so important, Carmel color and atmosphere. The MONTE VERDE, on Monte Verde Street, a step off Ocean Avenue and two minutes from the beach, will welcome you. For two or for the family, the apartments are delightful, quiet and spotlessly clean. There are also non-housekeeping rooms available.

Do Your FEET HURT?

Do you have constant leg aches: below the knee, in the thigh, sciatica?
Do you have low backache, acute or of long duration, accompanied by various leg pains?
Do you have tingling, numbness or burning sensations in the legs and feet, arms and hands?
Do you have muscle fatigue, especially when standing?

After years of careful investigation and research it has been found that these symptoms reveal one particular type of FAULTY FOOT POSTURE, or what is commonly known as a breakdown of the arches of the foot. Neglect of these WARNING signs will lead to serious and disabling diseases, while early correction is a simple, painless, non-surgical procedure, frequently leading to complete recovery.

time up to, and including, planting time. Place the tubers on a flat bed in the prepared planting hole, eye upward, and cover gently with about three inches of soil. The hole is then filled as the plant grows, and further fertilizing is not advisable until the plants are about ready to bloom. At that time a cupful of commercial fertilizer per plant may be applied, starting about eight inches from the plant and working outward. This may be repeated at three to four week intervals. Mulch, rather than cultivate at this stage, so as not to injure surface roots. As for watering, go easily until a full crop of leaves appears, then watering may be heavy and frequent.

To achieve Gargantuan blooms, pinch out the top of each plant just above the third set of leaves, making sure to pinch out at a joint so as to leave no hollow stalk. As the remaining laterals grow, remove side buds to concentrate growth in the terminal buds.

Plant catalogues and local nurseries will give specific information as guides in selection of Dahlia tubers according to blossom type, size, color, etc.

How does your garden grow-

By SHERIE SANDERS

If Dahlias are your delight, they can be grown with the greatest of ease. The true gardener grows beautiful blooms chiefly, I suspect, because his Dahlia beds are in favored positions where also the bloom shows to greatest advantage. Selection of a sunny location I know to be an essential... particularly on this peninsula. Too, the bed should be well-spaded, and deep, at least two months in advance of planting.

The setting of stakes at the time of planting is another essential so that tubers avoid later injury. For those of you who find a crop of stakes unsightly, another planting method is suggested: Instead of one tuber and one stake to a hole, three tubers and no-stake is an alternative, placing the three tubers about six inches apart with eyes facing center. The Dahlia stocks then will support themselves. For the single-tuber-stake combination set the tuber two or three inches from the stake with the eye facing stake-side.

Each hole should be about a foot in diameter, seven or eight inches deep, and three to four feet apart if planted in clumps. If planted singly, in rows, the holes should be almost two feet apart and there should be a three foot space between rows.

Dahlia tubers do not like direct contact with manure... a chief advantage gained by preparation of the bed at least a month prior to planting. Bonemeal, however, can be well worked into the soil at any

This Week We SALUTE:MRS. EDWARD C. BIGELOW

. . . WHO SOLD LOT NUMBER 15 IN YANKEE POINT ACRES, ON THE CARMEL RIVIERA, TO MR. AND MRS. EDWARD PALMER, OF SOUTH EUCLID, OHIO. . .

Born and educated in Northern England, Mrs. Bigelow is an American citizen whose great-great-uncle was former Secretary of State William Henry Seward. Married in 1922 to Flyer Lt. Edward C. Bigelow, she lived for two years north of Prince Albert, Canada, and has one daughter, Joan, who is married now and lives at Lake Tahoe. The Bigelows moved to Spokane in 1924, where Lt. Bigelow established the Bigelow-Johnson School of Aviation. Killed in an airplane crash in 1931, Mrs. Bigelow's husband also was a pilot for United Air Lines and the U.S. Air Force. For seven years following his death, Mrs. Bigelow kept the flying school business going, and she now holds a life membership in the Air Lines Pilot Association. A resident of Oakland for a while, she was preparing to return to Spokane when she "discovered" Carmel in 1940. She purchased her own home in Carmel Highlands and decided to go into the real estate business. When she received her broker's license in 1947, Mrs. Bigelow opened an office at the Highlands Inn. Later, when she sought a Carmel location, she was invited to join the office of Kenneth I. Smith, realtor, which she did. Last year she was secretary of the Carmel Board of Realtors. A specialist in Carmel Highlands property, Mrs. Bigelow is an enthusiastic salesman of Carmel Riviera property.
